

GOP Blasts Dems on Election Stand

DEATH CAR — Willard W. Hall, 20, Round Lake, was killed last weekend in a head-on crash of two cars on Rte. 21, one mile south of Antioch. Car in which the victim was riding, sped around two cars partially standing on the highway and crashed into another coming from the opposite direction.

1 Killed, 4 Hurt in Crash

Funeral services were held Tuesday for a young Round Lake man who died in a tragic head-on auto crash near Antioch over the weekend.

Victim of the crash, in which four other persons were injured, was Willard Wright Hall Jr., 20, of 1414 Cedar Lake Rd., Round Lake Beach. Services for Mr. Hall, a Round Lake High School graduate and an employee of the Allis-Chalmers plant in Deerfield, were held at the Strang Funeral Chapel, Grayslake, with burial in Avon Cemetery. Hall was a passenger in the car of James S. Madziarek, Round Lake, which collided with the stopped car of Chicagoan Charles A. Gulbransen on Rte. 21-83, a mile south of Antioch.

Witnesses said the Round Laker's car, southbound on Rte. 21, passed one auto pushing another and failed to get back into the southbound lane.

The injured, treated at Victory Memorial Hospital, Waukegan, are Gulbransen; a passenger in his car, Angeline Christ, Chicago; Madziarek, whose injuries included a broken left arm and left leg; and a passenger in his car, Tom Butler, 19, of Round Lake.

Witnesses to the crash included Henry Kubicki and Mrs. Sue Kraft, both of Antioch. Kubicki said he was pushing Mrs. Kraft's car because its engine was flooded.

Kubicki said their autos were partly on and partly off the pavement facing south, and that his engine died just as he was pushing Mrs. Kraft's car farther off the road.

He said the Madziarek car came along at a high rate of speed, but he thought it would have enough room to get around his auto and back into the southbound lane. He said Gulbransen had halted his car on seeing what was happening.

In other weekend accidents, Billy L. Woodral, 29, of Antioch, had a miraculous escape when his car overturned on Skokie Highway, a half mile south of Rte. 173. His car was a total wreck, but he was only slightly injured. Deputies said the auto rolled over into the opposite lane of traffic and overturned.

Marvin W. Sargent, 30, of 998 Victoria St., Antioch was injured in an accident at 3 a.m. Monday on Grand Avenue, just west of Rte. 45. Deputies said he was charged with drunken driving.

The Antioch fatality was followed by a double-death in another head-on collision on Rte. 12 near Wauconda, bringing Lake County's highway death toll for the year to 15, compared to 6 at the same time last year.

The rash of fatal accidents prompted an appeal for safe driving from Eugene G. Landen, executive director of the Lake County Safety Commission.

Landen pointed out that police records show that violation of traffic laws accounts for 80 percent of county accidents. The commission 20,000 pamphlets appealing to drivers to cut accidents and deaths by driving safely.

Channel L. Bonds Go For 3 1/2% to State Bank

By Mrs. Pearl Kapell

The $60,000 bond issue for building a gymnasium at the Channel Lake School was sold to the State Bank of Antioch at the meeting of the Board of Education last week. Interest rate on the bonds is at 3 1/2%.

The board also retained John Bergeson, Chicago, as architect. Preliminary plans are expected in two weeks and final plans in four. Secretary Mary Chase says bids from builders will "probably be considered at the May meeting of the board, with construction expected to start shortly after the end of the school term.

The new addition will include a gym, with folding tables so that it can be used as a lunchroom, kitchen, washrooms and stage.

Candidates in Race for Town Election April 4

Party lines were more sharply defined this week as voters prepared to cast ballots for township officials Tuesday, April 4.

In a race that has moved along without fanfare, Republicans this week charged the Democrats with injecting a note of partisan politics into the hitherto tranquil town race where local candidates traditionally line up under local party banners.

The line-up at this writing places the Democrats behind the Progressive Party, while GOP candidates are running under the Peoples Party label and one under that of the Independent Party.

Here are the candidates for Tuesday's election:

Peoples Party — Llewellyn Van Patten, Jr., (incumbent), town clerk; G. Dudley Kennedy, assessor; Irving W. Carey, John P. Miller, George O. Hawkins, town auditors; Myrtle Biel and W. Richard Whitacre (incumbents), library board trustees.

Independent Party — Helen Burke, assessor.

Progressive Party — Elmer P. Barnes, assessor; Elsie M. Turner, town clerk; Edward T. Hevrdejs, town auditor.

Running on the Democratic ticket for office in Judicial District 1 — Avon, Antioch, Lake Villa and Grant townships — are: Justice of peace, Joseph Ireland; constable, Don Penfield; judge of circuit court, Philip W. Yager.

Seeking office in District 1 as Republicans are: Justice of peace, John "Bud" Stanton; constable, Carl Schmidt; judge of circuit court, Thomas J. Moran.

Candidates for District office as independents are Harold W. Wilson (incumbent), justice of the peace; and Richard E. Eckert (incumbent), constable.

Polling places, by precinct, open 6 a.m. to 6 p.m., April 4, will be: Fire Station (1); Village Hall (2); Lotus School (3); Grass Lake School (4); Channel Lake School (5); Emmons School (6).

Two Firemen Hurt in Cartage Blaze

Two Antioch firemen were hurt, neither seriously, fighting a blaze at the Cunningham Cartage Co. over the weekend. Damage was estimated at between $20,000 and $25,000.

The firm, owned by Village President Murrill Cunningham, is at the rear of his home on E. North Ave. Firemen fought the blaze in the one-story 40x100 foot frame and sheet metal building for an hour before bringing it under control.

The injured men were John Christensen, who pulled a ligament in his left shoulder, and John Dupre, who was cut across the bridge of his nose, a wound that took four stitches to close.

Fire Chief Edgar Simonsen said that although the blaze was confined to the shop section of the building, it damaged a walk-in panel truck and a garbage packer.

Cunningham, who gave the damage estimate, said he believes the blaze may have been caused by faulty wiring.

Bands Cop Honors; Qualify for State Meet

Antioch and Lake Villa grade school bands qualified for state competition next month by scoring first division ratings in the district contest at North Chicago Saturday.

Lake Villa was a first division winner in Class C, and Antioch rated first division in Class D.

Thirty-one bands from Lake County schools participated in the competition, and 10 of the county's 15 grade school bands made first division.

An innovation this year was the

Burglars Hit Gas Station

Burglars broke into Hank's Welco Service Station on Rt. 21, south of Antioch, early Wednesday morning, and escaped with a few dollars in cash.

Hank Kubicki, proprietor, reported only known loss was change in the cash register. Burglars were unsuccessful in breaking into the cigarette machine and may have been forced to flee before ransacking the station as the area is brightly lighted and patrolled. Entry was gained through a broken window.

appearance of the Lake Villa Junior Band, which played in Class F for judges' comment and not for rating. This is a new classification.

For the Antioch Grade School Band, Saturday's showing marked the seventh consecutive first division rating in the district contest. The 70 Antioch children, who made the trip by school bus, were accompanied by 35 parents.

The state finals are scheduled in Peoria April 28 and 29.

Riled at Use Of Party at Town Level

Local Republicans, stung into action by what they term the unprecedented interjection of partisan politics into township affairs, have publicly swung behind GOP candidates whose names will appear on the ballot at the township election, Tuesday.

The action was taken this week at a special meeting of the board of directors of the Antioch Township Republicans Men's Club.

Walter Delaney, president of the GOP club, said today "that while it is regrettable that party politics have been brought into local affairs, his group saw no alternative other than to plunge into the fray on that basis and elect Republican candidates on the ballot."

Said Delaney: "In the past the Republican party leaders of Antioch Township have steered clear of party politics in local affairs for several reasons". He outlined them as:

1 — A belief that party politics on local level leads to friction among residents and tends to make the community less an integrated whole over a period of years —

2 — In a purely party campaign for local offices minorities would be shut out with the stronger party electing all local officers. —

3 — The interest of all residents is best served if the more qualified man for each office is elected, no matter his party —

4 — A feeling that it is not necessary to call in party "machinery" to acquaint voters with the qualifications of candidates, as they are friends and neighbors, and, presumably well known.

"Now, however, since the Democratic leadership in the community has seen fit to throw away all advantages of non-partisan elections for the area," he said, "we have no alternative other than fighting fire with fire."

He listed the Republicans who will appear on the April 4 ballot as: Peoples Party — Llewellyn Van Patten, Jr. (town clerk); G. Dudley Kennedy (assessor); Irving W. Carey, John P. Miller, George O. Hawkins (town auditors); Myrtle Biel, W. Richard Whitacre (library board trustees); Independent Party — Helen Burke (assessor).

In other action this week, 300 party members attended the third annual dinner of the GOP club Saturday night at Lorenz's Smart Country House.

Barn Burning Lights Way for New Civic Center

LINDENHURST — The opening event in construction preparations for the new civic center here was a real barn burner.

Members of the Lindenhurst Men's Club began clearing the Old Elm Drive site by burning a former farm tenant residence on the property which had later been used as an American Legion Home. The burning was supervised by the Lake Villa Fire Department and Lindenhurst police.

Volunteers with trucks are now removing the rubble that didn't burn in the weekend blaze, and construction of the $50,000 building will be started early in April.

The 160x250 foot site is a joint gift of the H. N. Engle and Sons Co. and the Woodland Construction Co.

The T-shaped one-story building will have a full basement that will house kitchen and dining facilities. The main floor will be for meetings. Children's organizations will be able to use the building free, and adult groups will be charged maintenance plus cost.

Most of the labor is being supplied by volunteers, with John Slove in charge of recruiting workers. Robert Streicher is the general foreman.

The club has $3,500 in its treasury for the building fund and has several projects on tap in a drive to raise $12,500, including a May car wash, and a block party and street carnival in June, according to Club President Paul Wright.

A Pioneering Educational Effort

What Are We Doing for Our Exceptional Youth?

By Harvey L. Patton
(Fifth of a series)

Under Illinois law, all children between 3 and 21 who suffer from a physical defect which makes participating in a normal school program impossible or impractical are eligible for special education as physically handicapped children.

The Special Education District of Lake County, formed last year, has now progressed to the point where it can accommodate in separate classes those physically handicapped children who are (1) hard of hearing, (2) partially seeing, (3) with speech defects, and (4) those whose bodies are impaired.

Of these four classifications, the latter is the more apparent, because it is here that we find children — bright children with good minds whose physical handicap is such that they must struggle to put into action what the brain dictates.

These are the victims of physical defects at birth, the polio victim, the victim of crippling tuberculosis of the bone, the cerebral palsied child, and others. The mind may grasp an intricate problem in algebra but the hand must struggle mightily to put the solution on paper. An artistic mind envisions a lovely landscape but must work overtime to force fingers to grasp a brush and painfully put on paper what the brain so clearly sees.

These are the children who, because of a purely physical defect may find it a battle against tremendous odds to pick up a pencil, to walk, to make the speech mechanism function so that they can be understood.

Snap on the ignition and the motor starts, but no matter how far the throttle is pushed, the speed will never exceed 20 mph. The physical defect is the governor that forces them to move at a snail's pace.

Theirs is the struggle to accomplish the simplest of physical tasks. Theirs are the frustrations of knowing, but being held back to the pace of a defective engine.

The frustrations of such children often take a strange turn, and their ambition to move ahead with their normal peers is inspirational. Take young Tom, a shriveled lad of 10 with a rounded back. Until Tom entered the special class for the physically handicapped children in Jackson School, Waukegan, he never remembered being more than a block away from home.

Jackson School was the door to a new world, but he wasn't having any — at first. He was strange; he was bewildered. Yes, and he was just a bit afraid, as most are afraid of the unknown. For the first few days he sat quietly, saying nothing, apparently doing nothing, and refusing to communicate with his classmates. His teacher was kind and patient. But understanding the cause, she bided the time when Tom would willingly enter into the spirit of the class.

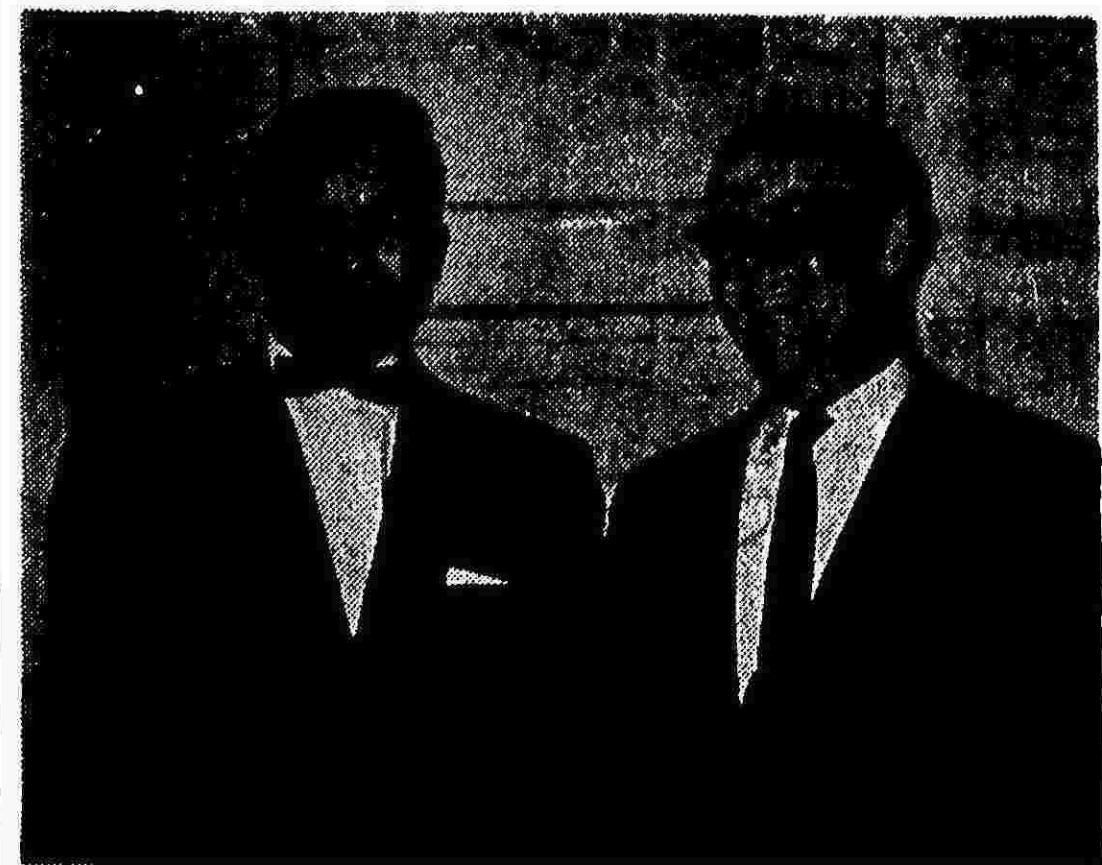

But young Tom wasn't mentally asleep. The newness and strangeness had made its mark, but the germ of socializing and ambition was struck. One Friday evening as the students prepared to depart for home Tom casually mentioned that he would see the teacher the next day. The teacher gently reminded the tiny lad that tomorrow was Saturday — no school.

Tom thought this over for several seconds, and said, "But you must come. I like school and I want to learn."

The teacher repeated that there would be no school on Saturday.

Tom straightened as best he could with his round back, shifted his crutches, and fetched the teacher a belt across the shins with one of them, and yelled, "I want to come to school."

But the point was won. The spark had reached Tom and he had achieved (continued on page 10)

AMONG THOSE attending the GOP gathering last Saturday in Antioch were Richard E. Eckert (left), incumbent for constable; and Harold W. Wilson, incumbent for justice of the peace.

DEAR READER News Editorials

A Privilege — and A Duty

Three important elections are scheduled in the immediate weeks ahead.

No matter the party affiliation, no matter the issues, it is everyone's duty to vote in each and every election. The voting franchise is not a universal privilege. It is a privilege peculiar to free nations.

And at the risk of being accused of pontificating, we say and say again, "He who does not vote has no right to opinionize on laws, on schools, on government, on taxes, on public affairs."

By his refusal to vote, the voter forfeits his greatest weapon in guaranteeing the freedoms on which this nation was established. It's every eligible voter's duty to visit the polls come election day.

Should the 19-Year-Old Vote?

Once again there is a bill pending in Springfield which would lower the voting age. The bill, as favored by Gov. Otto Kerner, would lower the voting age to 19.

There are several points of view involved. There is that of the youngster who will be granted a franchise to vote if the measure is passed. And there is an opposite opinion, primarily by those now eligible to vote, that youth has neither the judgment nor the maturity to vote.

Judging from some who have held and now hold office, the judgment of present voters is not above suspicion. Depends on how you look at it, of course.

Most common argument favoring lowering the age limit goes thusly, "If a man is old enough to fight for his country he's old enough to vote."

Sounds nice, but won't hold water. A man reacts in combat as he is trained. He uses judgment, but that judgment and action is based on training and drill which has been repeated over and over again until it becomes part of a soldier. It is following orders. It becomes second nature . . . it is part discipline, it is part system. Follow it or die.

How do you train a voter? When does it start and when does it end?

A young man can become a proficient soldier in a year of intensive training. A voter goes into training the moment he reaches the age of understanding and can recite the "Pledge of Allegiance" and realize its significance. He continues this training in voting as long as he retains a spark of interest in local and national affairs.

A 19-year-old has just ended basic training. For high school is nothing more than prep school. He enters his advanced training when he enters college or goes forth to make his way in the business world. It isn't likely that this basic trainee is quite ready.

The youngster does have arguments in his favor. Those who want to vote cite their youthful enthusiasm and interest.

Enthusiasm and interest don't make a voter, however. And those who are long past 19 can recall with embarrassment that the wisdom they thought they had at 19 wasn't much wisdom after all. As the old saying goes, "It takes a boy 40 years to find out how dumb his father was."

So let the youngsters keep that drive and enthusiasm. Let them consider themselves in training to be voters until they reach adulthood. If enough of them will do this, the country one day will be in good hands.

The Passing Scene

Most viewers who saw the Collinsville Kahoks take the state high school basketball crown March 18 in Springfield couldn't have helped but wonder how they would fare in smaller college circles. We've seen a few they could take handsily. They had the horses, they had the finesse, the power, the height and the skill.

So strong were the Kahoks and so tough their full court press that they completely outclassed some fine opponents enroute to the crown and earned plaudits as one of the finest teams to play in the state's 54-year-old tournament. They most certainly can be classed with the great 1953 LaGrange club, Hebron's '52 champs and a top 1958 Marshall High quintet.

Their rout of Thornton, though indicative of the Kahoks' power, does an injustice to the looser, a fine squad by any standards. Thornton had just skidded by Marshall in the afternoon and was not up for Collinsville, physically and mentally.

Too, Thornton failed to combat the harassing press of Collinsville and seldom kept more than two men in the back court for smooth maneuver. As a result passes were hurried and frantic.

The Kahoks will pass around a zone until defenders grow dizzy. Most interesting observation was by a Peoria sportswriter anent Bogie Redmon, the Kahok's 6-6 powerhouse. "They washed the wrong guy out of this tournament. It's Jackson's 19 years old, Redmon's 29." (Jackson, Manual center, became ineligible just before the tourney).

There's no cause to doubt Redmon's 18 years. But those furrows in his forehead must be caused by concentration. Bogie, by the way, is the rugged center's real name. He was christened George Bogie Redmon.

Best potential team in the state could be Marshall of Chicago, who some feel was kept from reaching the finals by coaching lapses. They had the raw material, but a helter-skelter offense just wasn't good enough to get by Thornton.

Tough-luck team of the tourney was Peoria Manual. This fine squad was hurt by the loss of star center Eddie Jackson, yet still managed to bag fourth place. Many feel they would have come in second.

None, however, dispute the glory that rightfully belongs to Collinsville. They're champs all the way, notwithstanding any "ifs and buts".

An interested spectator at Huff gymnasium was Haskel Tison, 6-11 center from Geneva, who is being wooed by several colleges. Tison has acquired an agility surprising for a player his size and there are some who predict a second "Wilt the Stilt" in the making.

Next time you're on the road, notice how many people jazz up the turn signals. We've been checking, and our educated guess says that at least half the highway drivers flip the turn signal up when they want to turn left, and pull it down when they are making a right turn.

After a near-collision last month we've learned to discount the directional signal of all opponents. To us it merely means the motorist is going to make a maneuver — what, neither he nor we are quite certain.

Justin Smith's recent column about the extravaganzas and flights into fantasy by an architect of a new school in Deerfield will take on added significance when hard-pressed taxpayers receive property tax bills. As a long-suffering citizen who still blanches at the $600-plus property tax last year on his modest pad, we're more than touchy anent the subject of frills and fancy in today's new schools.

That's why it's a pleasure to disclose that District 117 has no illusions of glamour concerning the new addition slated for Antioch High School. The new addition will be a chaste, brick, all-fireproof structure in keeping with the existing structure.

No huge picture windows that bring the out-of-doors indoors for our growing youngsters. They're in school to learn, not to gaze wistfully at the landscape. Windows are for light and ventilation, and the window vents of the new structure are modest but adequate. Primary fenestration will be light diffusing glass block — to let the light in, but keep the eyes and mind where they belong — on books, board and instructor. Structural framing will be steel, encased in masonry for complete fire protection — attractive enduring masonry, rather than flashy, thin metal panels with their leaky joints and constant need of cleaning and maintenance. Houses hereabouts run from about $10 to $15 per square foot, and that's about what the high school addition will run.

Chuck Mather, Chicago Bears backfield coach and highly successful former mentor at Paul Brown's Massillon, Ohio High School as guest speaker at the Lions banquet, outlined a training program followed by highly skilled athletes at that school — which in no small measure accounts for the tremendous success there.

Once students become squad members at Massillon, they accept as a matter of course the following throughout the year:

1 — Training is a year-around affair. You can't start football training at the opening of the fall term and expect to hit the line hard in October. Athletes work out all year and follow a normal diet. No smoking and drinking, of course.

2 — Athletes cannot own a motor vehicle, be it a mechanical bike, or a jalopy. The inference here is obvious.

3 — Dating is not done the night before a day of school. This means dating on Saturday night only, as the school usually has something going on Friday night to keep those concerned occupied.

These rules are taken as a matter of course. They are part of the code.

Courthouse Notebook —

BY LOU DURKIN

For the first time in the history of Lake County voters in a township election will have a chance to select candidates who are running under the banner of a national party and political observers will be keeping a close watch on the outcome of the balloting Tuesday to see if the party label has any appreciable effect on the voting.

The Democrats in scattered townships have put up slates of candidates for township posts to run under the party label in an effort to solidify and strengthen the county organization.

In these townships the Republicans will probably be voting for members of the Progressive, Independent, Citizens, Good Government or some other local party.

Many GOP leaders wanted to enter Republican slates in the township elections, but local party slates had already been entered when the Demos made their move, so it was decided to leave well enough alone and not get into a three way fight that could have produced significant Democratic victories.

The supervisor and assistant supervisor balloting in those townships where Democrats are running will be particularly important because the presence of admitted Democrats on the County Board of Supervisors could have far-reaching effects on the future operation of the county.

If the Democrats were to win a majority of the seats on the county board they could make it uncomfortable for the county office holders.

Few Democrats, however, expect any sweeping victories in this election, but they are serving notice on the Republican organization that future elections will not be won automatically by the GOP primary winners.

Changes now being made in the Justice of the Peace setup probably won't effect the outcome of any of the JP balloting Tuesday, but the amendments to the law should provide a more equitable spread of the justice of the peace case load.

Under the new legislation the county judge will have authority to shift justices from one district to another to ease the work load in busy judicial areas, but chances are that instead of merely shifting justices, there will have to be some new judges added in Lake County.

It is unlikely that a half dozen justices of the peace will be able to handle the entire load of civil and criminal cases that fall under the jurisdiction of the justices.

In the Circuit Judge balloting Tuesday Probate Judge Thomas J. Moran, who was a unanimous pick of the GOP judicial convention delegates in January, should breeze home easily over Lake Bluff Democrat Phil Yager.

Despite his solid lead, however, Judge Moran is taking no chances and is campaigning as though his political life were at stake.

You would think even professional politicians would get a little weary of political talk, but around the courthouse they can hardly wait for the township, justice of the peace, and judicial elections to get out of the way so they can start talking about next spring's primary election.

The big interest naturally centers on the sheriff's race where Chief Deputy Charles Larson is the heir apparent to the sheriff's office backing, but he is certain to have opposition and probably from several quarters.

Hugo Schneider, Jr., who will have to step out of the treasurer's office, is expected to run for the probate clerk's post being vacated by Allen J. Nelson while Guy O. Lunn will no doubt seek the treasurer's post he has held twice before.

It could be a long, interesting primary.

No Rest for Red Cross on 100th Year

This year, the Centennial of the Civil War, also represents the 100th anniversary of service to the military by Clara Barton, founder of the American Red Cross. From the inspiration of one woman in 1861, the Red Cross has grown with the country's needs. Last year, in U.S. communities, Red Cross chapter volunteers and Home Service staff each month provided assistance to an average of 118,000 servicemen and their dependents.

Figures released by Duane Tillinghast, Red Cross national fund vice chairman for Illinois, show that 75 chapters in the state reported assistance through Home Service to a total of 17,751 cases. Other requests handled but not counted as cases amounted to 21,126. In every part of the state, Home Service is available through 122 Red Cross chapters.

This service includes counseling and referral for servicemen, veterans, and their families; emergency communications between service personnel and their families; reporting on home situations for use of military authorities in determining emergency leaves, transfers, or discharges; financial assistance in certain emergency situations; and help to veterans, servicemen, and their dependents applying for government benefits. It also includes some services to civilian families where the need is not met by another local organization. The services provided to servicemen, veterans, and their dependents are a part of the program of assistance required of the Red Cross by its charter from the U.S. Congress.

Last year, services to the armed forces, veterans, and their families amounted to $33,557,042 — about 39 cents of every Red Cross dollar. In Illinois alone, 3,479 cases received direct financial aid totaling $137,117.

The problems brought to chapter Home Service workers are varied. The military may request verification of a soldier's need for emergency leave. A sailor, whose mail is delayed may be worried about his family — perhaps his mother has been ill, or his wife is expecting a child. A marine may have a wife and children who are not receiving the scheduled allotment checks. A disabled veteran may need assistance in obtaining government benefits to which he is entitled. The widow of a veteran may need guidance in the completion of a government form.

In all of these instances, and many others, Home Service helps. Available 24 hours a day, seven days a week, Red Cross chapters reporting in Illinois assisted an average of 2,384 cases each month.

Tillinghast emphasized that these services were actually provided by the American people, whose voluntary contributions to the Red Cross make this help possible. These contributions through Red Cross annual fund campaigns, or through federated campaigns in which Red Cross participates, are the organization's only source of income.

HIGH PRODUCTION

An animal owned by Grayslake Gelatin Farms, Grayslake, has set high production records under supervised program by the University of Illinois. The Holstein-Friesian cow, Carol Rag Apple Sensation, produced 18,104 pounds of milk and 601 pounds of butterfat in 365 days on twice daily milking as an 8-year-old.

feeding, flower growing, automotive, home grounds improvement, and numerous other projects.

Adults too are considering the many hundreds of County Fair classifications in which they can make exhibits.

The directors of the Fair Association are planning to get the premium book out at an early date this year. Anyone desiring a copy may obtain it by writing L. A. Nordhausen, secretary, Lake County Fair Association, Box 27, Grayslake.

4-H Photo Project Workers to Meet

The 4-H Club members enrolled in the photography project held their second session last Thursday in the Farm Bureau Auditorium starting at 7:30. Instruction was by Farm Adviser Ray T. Nicholas and included information on camera handling and taking pictures with flash and flood. Club members had an opportunity to take various pictures under both types of artificial light.

All members enrolled in the photography project and who plan to enroll, are urged to attend these special photography schools.

The remaining two sessions of the series will be held April 20 and 27.

Present Report on New $835,000 Condell Project

An up to date report on the progress of construction on the new $835,000 addition to Condell Memorial Hospital was among subjects discussed at the annual meeting of the Condell Hospital Association at Highland School, Rockland Rd., Libertyville, earlier this month.

In addition to the report on the construction of the new hospital wing Thomas Paine, president of the Board of Trustees, submitted a report on the status of the $300,000 fund raising drive for the hospital expansion program.

A full report on the operation of the hospital during the past year, including a financial report, and an outline of plans for the coming year was submitted by the board of trustees and the administrative staff.

County Teachers Mull Educational Changes

Various aspects of education, problems and solutions, were discussed by members of the Lake County Teachers' Institute meeting recently in Waukegan Township High School.

Under County Supt. of Schools W. C. Petty, teachers and faculty heard Rep. Charles W. Clabaugh outline the School Problems Commission and its activities. Also on the program were Dr. Charles F. Hunter, who discussed "Television and American Education" and Raymond W. Mack who spoke of "The Changing Class Structure of American Society."

Entertainment was furnished by the Waukegan Township High School chorus and John Neundorf at the organ. Sessions lasted from 8:45 a.m. to 1 p.m.

U. S. 'Little Census' Underway in Area

A "little census" will be conducted here this month, it was announced today by Director Theodore F. Olson of the Census Bureau's regional field office at Chicago.

The "little census" will consist of special questions to be asked in the March current population survey in addition to the regular monthly inquiries on employment and unemployment.

The special questions will be on consumer income, migration, and family characteristics. The purpose of these inquiries, asked each March in the Survey, is to supplement and keep up to date the detailed information about the nation's population which is collected every 10 years in the decennial censuses.

The regional field director emphasized that all information about individuals furnished to the Census Bureau is held in strict confidence under Federal law. It is used only to obtain summary figures such as totals, averages and percentages for various groups in the population and not to show information for particular families or individuals. The information cannot be furnished to any other government agency and thus cannot be used for investigation, taxation, or regulation.

Our Exceptional Children

cepted the school and it would now accept him. The instructor ignored the hurt of Tom's blow and leaned over and kissed the boy. He was now her student.

Troy is a lad of 16 and has been attending Jackson School for some 11 years.

An important part of the education of Troy and his physically handicapped classmates revolves around therapy in an effort to repair damaged limbs and achieve a higher measure of coordination. But Troy will have none of this. Although he's severely handicapped with cerebral palsy, he refuses to give up his learning time for therapy. He is to enter high school next year and he knows that there will be no special class. He will be in with normal students and he realizes the difficult task he faces in attempting to keep up with his 20 mph motor.

The instructor's money is riding with Troy, however, for she has seen him mature into a bright, ambitious and cheerful youngster.

Mrs. Christy, instructor, received Troy 11 years ago when he was five. He was more like a wad of dough than a boy. He was unable to sit up — coordination and muscle tone were nil. So Mrs. Christy chuckled him under her arm as one would a package, and proceeded with her instruction to others.

This went on for more than a year. The lad was tiny and handled like a rag doll. One day Mrs. Christy was instructing in spelling. She wrote on the blackboard the word "for".

Up piped Troy under her arm, "If you add a 'd' you'll have a FORD".

This was the first indication that he was moving along. Encouraged, she worked with the lad, had a nurse spend many painful hours with him each week. He had the knowledge, and they would make the motor respond. It has, and he will enter high school under his own power next fall.

Under direction of Mrs. Christy the physically handicapped class at Jackson consists of five boys and girls, ranging from 6 to 16 in grades 1 to 8. The class day is from 8:45 a.m. until 2:45 p.m. Local children are brought by parents in private car or taxicab. County children arrive by a special bus. The vehicle, a Volkswagon bus, allows for easier loading from wheel chairs through wide doors to wide seats equipped with seat belts.

The class is the same as a normal classroom modified only by a rest room equipped with beds and wheel-chairs. A matron is on hand to lift children and assist them when they must move about.

Introduction is of the same order as in the country school house with all grades in the same room instructed by one teacher.

Mrs. Christy maintains a pace that would put many of her younger contemporaries to shame. With her present five students she must cover four different grades, plan ahead to keep each student busy, give each individual attention, and allow for the many interruptions when various youngsters leave the class each day for the therapy.

This Waukegan class is not a part of the Special Education District of Lake County, and thus Mrs. Christy is not administered by the district. An agreement between the district and Waukegan allows physically handicapped children in the district to be instructed there.

To date the district also lacks preschool facilities, but hopes to cover this deficiency and to add to other special education facilities as finances permit.

Under the county set-up, the 31 elementary and 4 high school districts contribute one dollar for each student in the district. Participating districts have 20,760 students, giving the district a base of $20,760. Each district also pays a pro rata amount for their student enrolled in special education. Cost per student enrolled in each of the seven special type classes averages approximately $270 annually. This compares with the cost of $240 per year to educate normal children.

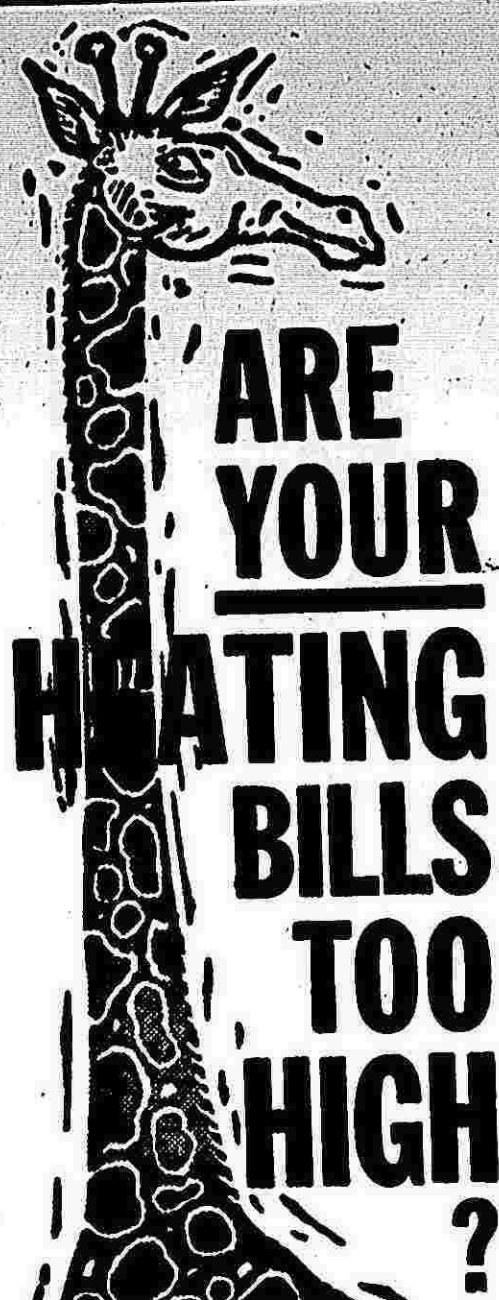

L. V. Vuilleumot, director of the county special education district, commends the high quality of instruction in the program and cites a drastic need for additional qualified instructors. Mrs. Christy has taught physically handicapped children in Waukegan since 1946 and before that taught at the universities of Indiana and Michigan. She was supervisor of the grade and high school at Two Rivers, Wis.

She received her training at the University of Wisconsin, did graduate work at the University of Illinois and Teachers College of Columbia.

Next week, in the sixth of an eight-article series charting educational facilities in Lake County for the physically handicapped and mentally retarded youngsters, The News will visit the instructor of the partially seeing as she guides her charges in various classrooms throughout the district.

Sequoit High Nine Opens at Zion April 4

Leon Cuts Squad to 19; 2 Lettermen

Antioch High's baseball squad moved outdoors this week with the cooperation of the weatherman and turned on steam in an effort to get in shape for their practice opener Tuesday against Zion-Benton at Zion.

With the conference opener but one week hence, when the Sequoits travel to Lake Forest April 7, Coach Larry Leon is still impatient for his first real look at what his squad can do. Inclement weather had confined drills to the close quarters of the gym, shared with the track squad, too cramped for his charges to do little more than limber up throwing arms and swing a bat or two.

Coach Larry Leon has reduced his squad to 19 from the 27 original tryouts. Of the four returning lettermen, Dudley Sheehan and George Hogan were dropped for training infractions, leaving lettermen Joe Pleviak and Jack Thompson as the only veterans from the 1959 squad.

In an effort to reach playing form early, Coach Leon has scheduled daily drills through the Easter holidays.

Although short on experience, this year's squad will have ambition, attitude and eagerness going for them, according to Leon. He foresees a rough season, but predicts that a few breaks may allow the squad to better the 5-7 record of last year.

Four teams will probably battle it out for conference honors, according to Leon. Grayslake, last year's winner, looms tough again, and should be challenged by Grant, Elaverton and Warren. He gives the nod to Grayslake, bolstered by a strong squad built around returning lettermen.

Pitching will be the key to success of this year's squad with Deryl Denman and his junk ball, John Hedburg, Joe Wolf, and Bill Ozga sharing the burden.

Other squad members include: catchers - Jim Brownlee and Jack Thompson; infielders - John Loeper, Joe Pleviak, Joe Ennis, Ozga (utility), Roger and Don Blackman; outfielders - Chuck Mavell, Mike Grealis, Dick Porter, Ron Gable, Mike Horn, Phil Fabry and Toby Henry.

Chuck Schuth, second baseman for last year's squad, is a Chicago transferee, and has used up his semester eligibility. His loss will be felt, as will that of Fyles, Gudgeon, Eberman, Wold, Nielsen, Wiegand and Stepien, mainstays of the 1959 squad.

Barb Casella's 148 Average High For U. S. Bantam

In other Bantam activities last week, John Jedele rolled an 187 game, which entitles him to an emblem, and Miss Casella had a high game of 163.

Conservation Club Fights Fund Diversion

By Mrs. Pearl Kapell
Bills in the state legislature affecting the Illinois Conservation Department, and needed legislation, were the main topics of discussion at the meeting of the Northern Illinois Conservation Club last week at Channel Lake School.

Members voted to promote the defeat of House Bill 314, now before the executive committee of the House, which would make it possible for the money derived from the sale of hunting and fishing licenses to go into the state general fund.

These funds have been used to support work of the Department. Petitions opposing the passage of the bill are being circulated by the club.

Petitions are also being circulated by members of the club in support of a movement started by the Izaak Walton League requesting legislation to remove the Conservation Department from political control. It was suggested that a six-man bipartisan board be formed to direct the work of the Department of Conservation.

Club members were told there is agitation to abolish the fishing areas in the Chain O' Lakes. The fishing areas, marked off by buoys, have been "out of bounds" to water skiers and speed boats. The club voted to oppose any action to abolish fishing areas.

Many Wisconsin resort owners are asking that certain of their lakes be closed to the use of power boats. Wisconsin authorities are now considering such a move.

JUSTICE DELAYED IS JUSTICE DENIED!

We need a full time Judge to clean up the present 4000 case Circuit Court backlog.

IT'S TIME FOR ACTION

Philip Yager's opponent proposes to handle two judgeships. If this happens the 4000 case backlog will increase — not diminish.

Philip Yager will be your full time Judge. He proposes use of the pre-trial conference so successfully used in Du Page County. He proposes a progress call so that no cases can be unduly delayed. He proposes to devote full time and more to solve this problem.

Philip Yager will give you full judicial performance and expeditious handling of court cases.
